Board Votes Sewer Funds For NFO

Proceedings to raise funds for sewer construction by the North Fair Oaks Sewer Maintenance Dist. were given the go-ahead signal this week by the county board of supervisors.

The board also adopted a resolution approving the plans and specifications of the Redwood City sewage treatment plant, as part of the legal steps leading to the installation of the system.

Ernest A. Wilson, attorney representing the district, said that the North Fair Oaks Dist. would acquire a one-third interest in the treatment plant.

A hearing for possible protests was set by the supervisors for their Mar. 2 meeting.

Wilson declared that the total cost of the project to the district would be $225,825. The plant, to be built at the end of Steinberger St., and the outflow lines would service the unincorporated area between Redwood City and Atherton; Redwood Village, and the part of Atherton north of Atherton Ave.

The project, called by Wilson one of the most important in the south end of the county, would be paid for either in cash or by 15-year bonds. Residents of the district would be assessed annually.

Although the legal arrangements should be completed soon, Wilson said it would take about a year to complete the project.

Peninsulans Approve Bay Crossing Plans

A southern bay crossing was approved unanimously last week at a county wide meeting at San Mateo city hall.

The group passed a resolution putting itself on record as favoring "the location of a second San Francisco Bay crossing in accordance with the findings of the joint army-navy board."

The resolution requested the California Toll Bridge Authority to file an application with the government immediately for permission to build the crossing.

The resolution will be incorporated in a letter from the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce to Gov. Earl Warren, together with a list of 67 organizations from the county endorsing the resolution.

Representatives of city councils, the board of supervisors, chambers of commerce, civic, garden and improvement clubs attended the meeting.

Passage of the resolution followed speeches by Barry J. L. O'Connor, chairman of the meeting, and representatives of the committee for the southern crossing over San Francisco Bay.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce to crystalize sentiment in the county for the southern crossing, as favored by San Francisco and the southern communities of the East Bay, and opposed by E. H. Purcell, state director of public works, and the city of Oakland.

After speeches by O'Connor, Fred Cox of Hayward, Lyn Fox and J. J. Greely of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Thomas A. Brooks, chief administrative officer of San Francisco, and Frank King, secretary-manager of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce, a discussion period was held and questions from the audience were answered.

The resolution then was read by O'Connor, seconded by Mrs. Elsa McGinn of the San Mateo Planning Commission, and passed by a chorus of ayes from the audience. There were no dissenting votes.

About 75 persons attended the meeting and the representatives of the committee for a southern bay crossing were enthusiastic in their praise of the response shown by the county and the organizational work done by the San Mateo chamber.

Peterson Draws Board Fire For Dog-Catching Activities

County Executive Frederick Peterson this week again became the target of criticism by the board of supervisors, this time as a result of his participation in dog-catching activities.

Peterson's method of handling the canine situation occasioned the comment by Supervisor Edward R. McDonald of "what a sloppy way to do business!"

A letter from Peterson transmitted a request by Belmont for part-time pound service on a monthly rate of $25. The board was requested to approve the arrangement.

County Clerk William Augustus pointed out to the board that Peterson last July 15 entered into an agreement with San Carlos for the county to supply similar service, for a cost of $50 a month.

Since the matter had not come before the board, nobody in a county office was charged with collecting the $50 a month, Augustus pointed out.

It was then that McDonald made his remark about "sloppy business."

The board members questioned whether Peterson, without approval of the board, could enter into such an agreement with San Carlos. Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan ruled that Peterson did not have that power.

"Peterson went beyond the scope of his authority in writing a letter and directing the poundmaster to give such service," Supervisor Henry W. Edmonds cut in, adding that the poundmaster operated under jurisdiction of the sheriff, not Peterson.

The board decided to call Peterson and ask him to explain his action. Chmn. Alvin S. Hatch telephoned Peterson's office, only to be told that the county executive had gone for the day.

"What's that about the 40-hour week?" murmured McDonald, glancing at the clock which registered 2:50 p.m.

Decision on the Belmont request was postponed until the board's next meeting.

Harry E. Brockamp Faces Driving Charge

Harry E. Brockamp, 44, 1633 Hopkins Ave., a bartender, was arrested this week by Redwood City police on a charge of drunken driving. He was later released on $150 bail.

With him when he was apprehended at Oak St. and El Camino Real was Mildred L. Towne, 35, 732 47th Ave., San Francisco, a waitress. She was charged with drunkenness.

Civic Unity Group Hears Year's Gains

"The achievements of the Redwood City Council for Civic Unity in its first year of existence are ones of which not only council members but all of Redwood City can be proud," declared council president Jonathan Rowell in a speech before 200 members who met at a banquet here celebrating the group's birthday Saturday night.

Rowell, who took over the gavel from retiring Pres. Don Brown, told the gathering that council membership has reached 338, with eight organizations affiliated.

He pointed out that the local housing program has placed eight families of minority groups who before the council was established would have had difficulty finding homes through other channels. This program, he said, has been given national mention in the Christian Science Monitor, Ladies Home Journal, New York Times and the magazine Fortnight.

In other efforts to eliminate race prejudices the council has been instrumental in removing signs of discrimination from all but one local restaurant, has sent speakers to church and school groups and has shown the movie "Brotherhood of Man" to numerous groups, he said.

The council bulletin has reached 3000 persons monthly, and the office staff at 2060 Broadway has handled dozen of cases every week, he declared.

Copies of the report of President Truman's committee on civil rights were distributed at the meeting, which was held at the Masonic Hall.

Schools Hit By Virus X SM County

Colds and the mysterious "Virus X," which has put many California residents on the sick list, today apparently was striking hard at San Mateo County's school children.

Sequoia High School Supt. A. C. Argo today blamed colds for the absence of 300 students from school. He said that the absence list was three times above normal.

Hardest hit in the county, however, was Burlingame High School, with nearly one-third of the students absenting themselves from classes due to illness. At the same time, San Mateo High reported that absences there were 18 per cent.

Sequoia High School thus had about the best record for the 300 absences constitute about 13 per cent of the total school body.

Redwood City's elementary schools, where children also were sniffing at a high rate, reported that 11 per cent of the children were absent due to colds. Supt. Andrew Spinas said that the rate was not unusual for this time of the year.

Of Redwood City's 4500 grammar school children, 427 were absent from school yesterday. Last Thursday only 288 stayed home.

The county health department meanwhile reported that while colds were prevalent in the Redwood City area, only a few cases of influenza had been reported.

Walter Jack, San Mateo elementary school district superintendent, said three of the district's 10 schools show absences of about 20 per cent, with Hayward Park School, with 42 absences of 215 pupils, setting the pace.

Burlingame's elementary schools, George White, superintendent, said today, show "no sharp upswing in recent weeks" with 100-120 pupils out of a total 1500 being absent through the last four weeks.

An erroneous report that Junipero Serra High School was forced to close yesterday because of virus X absences was scouted today by the Rev. Vincent I. Breen, principal. Father Breen said the school has "never been closed" and that with only 23 of 246 students absent, there was little likelihood that it would be.

Accurate data on Catholic grammar schools in the Burlingame-San Mateo area were unavailable but Our Lady of Angels in Burlingame reported that there were "very few" absences there for virus X.

Meantime, Dr. Harold Marks, acting director of San Mateo County Health and Welfare Dept., said that he had talked with state health department officials early today and had been told that "there was nothing to get alarmed about."

He said that state health leaders had told him that virus X is a self-limiting ailment which runs its course within two or three days and affects at the most only about 10 per cent of the population.

School to Check Consumer Costs

Redwood City will be the site of a series of interviews during the next few weeks by representatives of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, it was disclosed today.

This third annual seurvey is being made for the government through the Federal Reserve Board and is designed to determine consumer finances. Past and expected savings of families here interviewed will be recorded as part of the survey which will include 300 persons in all parts of the country.

Appointment of Miss Margaret Moore, Donald Allan and Willa Connelly as local interviewers was made today. They expect to commence their interviews this week.

Sequoia Student Finances Listed

A $9342.60 statement of condition of the Associated Students of Sequoia High School has been prepared by Jean Nieri, student commissioner of finance.

The statement shows the two largest sources of income for the student association as student body cards, $3927.65, and football gate receipts, $3183.99.

Largest single expense was listed as $1936.96 for the school paper, the Sequoia Times.

40 Per Cent Rent Boost Asked in SM County. Gets Cool Response

Landlords' pleas for a 40 per cent rent increase and for complete decontrol were heard by the San Mateo County Rent Control Advisory Board at a meeting in San Mateo this week, but the board indicated today it will not back either proposal.

John Willard, representing an apartment house owners association, and other landlord spokesmen bitterly attacked government controls but failed to produce a plan acceptable to board members.

Tenant representatives spoke, too, turning the meeting at the city hall into what Henry Nadelweiss, presiding member, called a forum for "the free expression or opinion."

After property owners and renters had presented their arguments, board members summed up their attitude:

The board favors eventual decontrol, gradually achieved as supply of dwellings approaches demand. It fears sudden decontrol would send rents skyrocketing, but favors increases where the landlord can show real need.

At the meeting's close, those present voted a resolution favoring separation of the San Mateo County area from the San Francisco region. Separation of the local board was sought by almost all the landlord spokesmen.

Damian Reynolds, board chairman, advised those present to write their congressional representatives and board members said the whole problem appears to rest with Congress, where proposed rent laws now are in committee.

Willard opened the landlords' presentation, arguing these points:

1. Despite rising costs of labor, materials and other things landlords must buy, their income has been almost frozen. Other groups are profiting at the expense of landlords, who have "a depression in a period of prosperity."

2. San Mateo County has "no slums, no social or racial problems — no influx of war workers" and has different problems from San Francisco. It is primarily a home-ownership rather than a renting district.

3. Renters have ability to pay. AFL union scales are higher.

4. Competition, already appearing in "for rent" ads in newspapers, will hold rental prices down.

Willard referred several times to "this administration" in connection with taxes and government costs, and made frequent references to an "unbalanced economy" due to rising wages and frozen rentals.

H. J. Hardy, San Mateo property owner, termed the rent problem "nothing but a political football," and drew applause when he asked the board: "What can we do about it?"

Landlords' arguments were sharply challenged by E. W. Rapley, Burlingame, and other tenants. Points emphasized were:

1. "Much has been said about houses for GIs. Where are they?"

2. Landlords made good profits before controls with 80 per cent of property rented. Usage of 100 per cent today increases profits. In addition, services, repairs and other expenses have been cut.

3. Ability to pay high rents is not borne out by overall figures on the income of wage earners.

SC Kindergarten Filled First Day

Enrollment of the new White Oaks Kindergarten stated this week in San Carlos, was officially closed on the first day of regular class session, according to Miss Ruth Melendy, school superintendent. The enrollment reached the limit of 40 students as soon as it opened, she said, and applications for additional enrollment were again put on waiting lists.

Twenty-six children showed up for the first day of school and 31 the second day, and the decreased size of the expected class was due to "an attack of sniffles in the kindergarten," according to Miss Melendy. Parents registered children who could not be present in person.

The new class is being held in the recently completed White Oaks School Library, where provisions are being made to have the facilities conform as nearly as possible to the other kindergarten rooms the superintendent said.

School Bond Issue Gets Endorsement

With Friday's voting on the Redwood City Elementary School Dist. $508,000 bond issue nearing, the Redwood City Post 105, American Legion, today had passed a resolution endorsing the bond issue and urged all citizens to go to the polls and vote.

The resolution, urging a "Yes" vote, was signed by Floyd D. Granger, chairman of the committee on resolutions. The resolution stated that the district is increasing rapidly in population resulting in greatly overcrowded schools.

Friday's balloting will take place at McKinley, John Gill, Garfield, Central, Hoover, Lincoln and Washington Schools. Voters must cast their ballots at the polling place listed in the election notice sent to them. Polls are open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Exchange Club Committees Set

Henry Nissen, president of the Redwood City Exchange Club, this week appointed his committees for the year. The chairmen: Finance, J. A. Buhler; auditing, T. N. Thompson; athletics, Al Davies; convention, Dr. S. E. Burns; exchange education, Lloyd O'Donnell; American citizenship, Francis Tinney; publicity, Carl Brennan; music, Pete Towne; house and commissary, James P. Hearne; community service, Davies; hospitality, William Railing; interclub relations, J. C. Dodge; fellowship and membership, John Ryan.

New Belmont Industrial Plant Slated

San Mateo County, scene of a huge residential and industrial boom in the past years, has been picked as the site of a new food products business which plans to settle in the Belmont area.

William Kuster, president of the Kuster Laboratories Inc., applied to the County Planning Commission for a permit to build a $200,000 plant near the Red Rock quarry, in the Harbor Blvd. area.

The permit for the construction of the plant was approved this morning by Frank Skillman, secretary of the commission, after he inspected a San Francisco factory and determined that there would be no objectionable odors. Formal approval will be given by the commission at its next meeting.

Kuster said that his firm has a factory in San Francisco where expansion is impossible.

The firm produces sauces, condiments and soy bean products which it supplies to the manufacturers of other foods. The Peninsula plant would handle a volume of business estimated by Kuster at about $1,250,000.

The factory which he proposes to build would cost in the neighborhood of $200,000, including equipment. It would be a one-story building, with a mezzanine, having an area of 20,000 square feet. The building would house the manufacturing plant, offices, storehouse and laboratory.

Kuster explained that there would be no particular amount of smoke or noise, but admitted the operation of the plant was not completely odorless. New condensers are being added, however, and when built the new factory should be "practically odorless," he declared.

Skillman was detailed to inspect the San Francisco factory this morning, since the issuance of the permit depended entirely on whether the odors would be objectionable.

Canada Road Opened Again For Traffic

Completion of an eight-mile stretch of Canada Rd., was announced this week by County Engineer M. A. Grant as the principal construction project of the year.

Five miles of the new road is nearly finished and lacks only a final coat which can be put on only after the rainy season. Grant said he expects the road from Whipple to Ralston to be completed by June.

The first rock surface on the realigned road has been completed and gates opened for traffic. The total cost of the five mile stretch will be about $275,000.

Grant said that the additional three mile stretch on Canada Rd. would be started this Summer. It will run from Whiple Rd. to Woodside completing the eight-mile project. The new section will probably cost about $180,000, including costs of rights of way.

The county engineer's office also plans to build this year a one-mile road from San Gregorio to Coast Hwy. The two-lane road will cost about $60,000.

A third project announced by Grant today will be aimed at the elimination of a hump in Geneva Ave. opposite the Cow Palace. The grading and repaving will cost about $35,000.

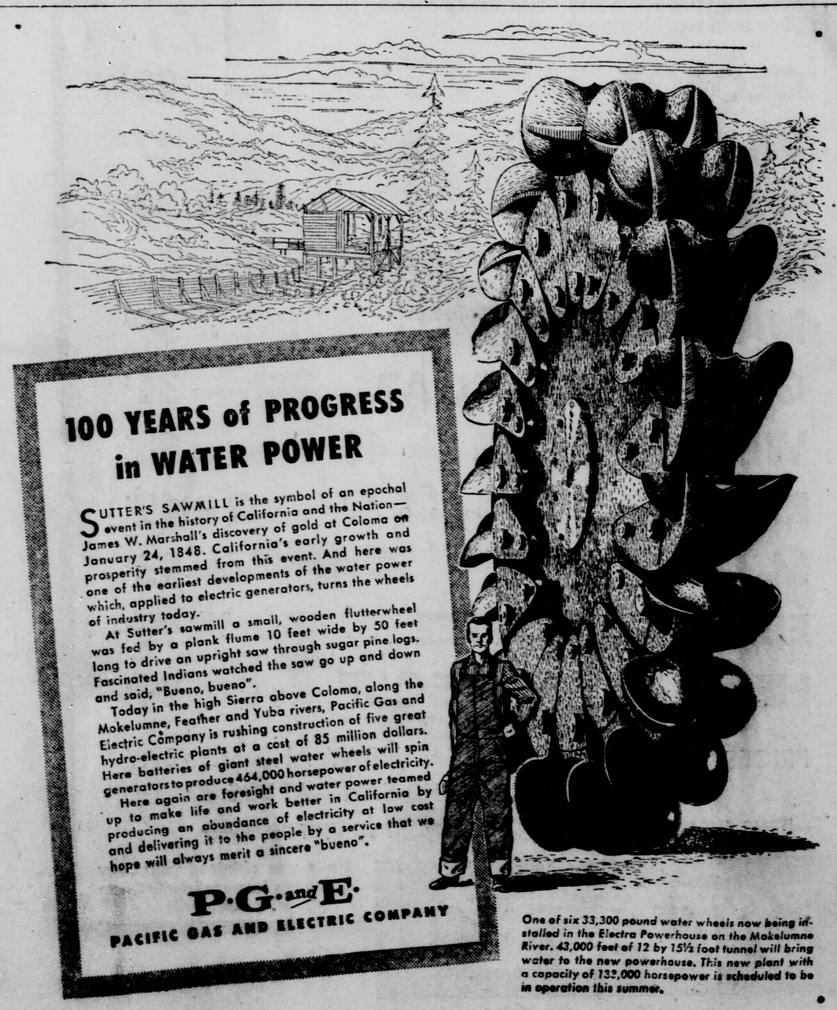
Redwood City dentists planning to attend include Dr. Norris G. Cummings, Dr. Albert J. Gardi, Dr. Thomas H. Gurner, Dr. Rollo O. LaBerge, Dr. William Langston, Dr. Charles A. Lition, and Dr. George E. Merchant.



100 YEARS of PROGRESS in WATER POWER

SUTTER'S SAWMILL is the symbol of an epochal event in the history of California and the Nation—James W. Marshall's discovery of gold at Coloma on January 24, 1848. California's early growth and prosperity stemmed from this event. And here was one of the earliest developments of the water power which, applied to electric generators, turns the wheels of industry today.

At Sutter's sawmill a small, wooden flutterwheel was fed by a plank flume 10 feet wide by 50 feet long to drive an upright saw through sugar pine logs. Fascinated Indians watched the saw go up and down and said, "Bueno, bueno".

Today in the high Sierra above Coloma, along the Mokelumne, Feather and Yuba rivers, Pacific Gas and Electric Company is rushing construction of five great hydro-electric plants at a cost of 85 million dollars. Here batteries of giant steel water wheels will spin generators to produce 464,000 horsepower of electricity.

Here again are foresight and water power teamed up to make life and work better in California by producing an abundance of electricity at low cost and delivering it to the people by a service that we hope will always merit a sincere "bueno".

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

One of six 33,300 pound water wheels now being installed in the Electra Powerhouse on the Mokelumne River. 43,000 feet of 12 by 15½ foot tunnel will bring water to the new powerhouse. This new plant with a capacity of 132,000 horsepower is scheduled to be in operation this summer.

We've put in 2¼ MILLION TELEPHONES since V-J Day

1. We had to break records... and we did. Today we're serving over one-fourth more telephones than at the war's end—a net gain of three-quarters of a million. And, since every day many customers move, we actually had to install more than two and a quarter million telephones to make this gain.

2. Complex splices like this—thousands of them—went into the two million miles of wire we've put in. And that's only part of the story—more than 200 new buildings or additions... complex new switching equipment in almost all our buildings... these and other facilities are being added in the face of sharply rising costs and tough supply problems.

3. We're still working against time. Orders continue to flood in. To fill service needs we're adding facilities at the rate of more than half a million dollars a day—every day. A huge investment, yes. But telephones have been going in as never before in the West. And as the system grows, your telephone service becomes more valuable still.

4. Where does the money come from... millions of new working dollars needed to extend and improve service? Millions must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This requires the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

PENINSULA PLAYGOER

BY DOROTHY NICHOLS

The January drought continues but in the theatrical skies at least, there are clouds, and a promise of lively activity next week. Palo Alto opens "Guest in the house," a psychological thriller by Hager Wilde and Dale Eunson, Wednesday evening at the Community Theater. Another thriller, this time with a murder, "Uncle Harry" by Thomas Job, plays in the Little Theater at San Jose State College, Jan. 29 through Feb. 3.

"Guest in the House" gives Phyllis Lakin Suhr a wonderful part as the snake-in-the-grass, or the viper-in-the-bosom of a kind household. In the past she has played such parts as the tormented Manuela in "Girls in Uniform," and she began her career in "Growing Pains" as the high school flirt. This is the first time she has done a sinister and neurotic home-wrecker.

Community theaters as well as the professional, develop "stage families." Phyllis's sister Elizabeth has been one of the Palo Alto leading ladies and her father, Egerton Lakin is a pillar of the theater. I seem to remember him in legal roles (doubling from life as a judge) and in illegal parts, such as a suave gambler in the winter melodrama. Phyllis's husband, Kai Suhr, played in "Biography."

I first saw "Guest in the House" in most unlikely circumstances. It was certainly not an ideal selection for a camp show, but the Peninsula Little Theater took it out, as it was one of their regular productions, and I caught up with it during the war, at the Mills estate, which was being used as a rest home for the merchant marine.

The convalescent sailors gathered in one of the most beautiful rooms of the old Peninsula estates, with brocade hangings and marble fireplaces, and the players, with the aid of a couple of screens, set up their stage in one end of the room. They were practically in the laps of the audience, which became highly vocal during the performance. The screen supposedly made an exit to a bedroom and when the couple retired behind it a voice was lifted in disapproving tones: "What things do go on!" The melodramatic elements of the play kept the thing going, and when somebody was reading somebody's else's letters the seamen were indignant: "Don't do that!"

Writing in to movie producers to tell them some detail in the picture was wrong is supposed to be a national sport. I am never sure enough of facts to challenge a set designer, but I think I spotted a mild anachronism in the beautifully cluttered "dining room-sitting room at 14 Elmwood Avenue, Woolaston, Mass." of the Peninsula Little Theater's production of "Years Ago."

Maxfield Parish was right for 1912, and everybody used to have that woman with the urn in some narrow panel space in the house, but San Mateo had a photograph of one of the water baby statues at the San Francisco Fair. That was in 1915. Any time after that, a California house would have had those photographs, for they were delightful statues, as well as a color photograph of the Fine Arts Rotunda.

James Forster, of Palo Alto, has the leading role in San Jose State's "Uncle Harry." He was the actor who made such a fine character part of the radical editor in Ibsen's "Rosmersholm" last fall. The only other production of "Uncle Harry" I have seen was at the Palo Alto Community Theater with Robert Bettencourt, now director of the Menlo Guild Players, in the part.

San Jose's cast includes Evelyn McCurdy, the housekeeper of "Rosmersholm," Jackson Young of Los Gatos who was Rosmer, and John Calderwood of Santa Cruz, Rosmer's conservative brother-in-law.

Gordon Davis, director at Stanford during the '20's, a period often referred to as a golden age of Stanford drama, is now in San Francisco, after a period in Hollywood. He is associated with Arthur Gleditszch, the founder and director of the Theater Arts Colony. Davis will direct Elmer Rice's "The Adding Machine" for his first production.

SC Community Theater Plans Program Tonight

An excellent program has been scheduled for the San Carlos Community Theater's regular meeting tonight at the Central School, according to news released by the publicity chairman for the group.

The "Music Makers," a string quartet, will play a group of three numbers: "Serenade for a Wealthy Widow," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and "In an 18th Century Drawing Room."

"Foofie," an acrobatic tap dancer from a San Francisco night club, will present novelty and comedy numbers.

George Hoffman, a guest artist from San Francisco, will entertain with old English ballad songs.

The business meeting will be in charge of Elmer Stockbridge, president of the group, and an evaluation of the past year's program will be discussed.

San Carlos Athletic Club Installs Shears as President

Bob Shears officially became the president of the San Carlos Athletic Club last night in an impressive ceremony conducted by Harvey Carlyon, assisted by Councilman Ed Burton as marshal.

Burton formally seated the new officers during the installation services, held in Cherington Hall. Officers installed were President Shears; Bill Barthold, vice president: Bill Stevenson, financial secretary; Bill Mohlfeldt, recording secretary; Arch Cameron, treasurer; Cecil Campbell, sergeant-at-arms, and Dirs. Douglas Ogilvie, Hal Warden, Emil Forst, Harrison Alper, and Adam Hunter.

Following the installation the new president conducted the business meeting at which time he presented his aims for the year. He reviewed the aims and purposes of the club and proposed a program of athletic and social events in concurrence with those ideals.

More emphasis will be placed this year on the youth programs, he said, as that phase of the club's activities had been so highly successful in the program already sponsored that he deemed it wise to further that part of the program. Traditionally sponsors of the famed "Father and Son's Night," the club is also sponsor of a cub pack. Shears hopes that more may be done in the coming year for the youngsters of San Carlos to promote sports activities.

Chickens' Ball plans were reported well in hand and the committee feels that the skit entered for competition will be a "sure fire hit," says Rudy Thuor, chairman.

The February meeting will again be back in the city hall, it is hoped, as the Cherington Hall quarters cramp the large membership of the club.

Club, Social Life in San Carlos Centers Around Chickens' Ball Next Month

BY JEAN BARTHOLD

With Chickens' Ball time growing closer in San Carlos, club and social life are pretty well concentrated on that event, scheduled this year for Feb. 12, 13 and 14, in the Central School Auditorium.

Not even the breath of a rumor has leaked out as to skits make-up or personnel. Everyone is busy guessing what no one but a few people really know. All details are traditionally secret and not revealed until the first night of the ball.

"What is Chickens' Ball?" It's a lot of traditions grown up together and carefully nurtured and guarded by all those who love the fun of dressing up and honoring "the delightful devilries of daring damsels and dashing dandies of the Nineties."

It's "Beulah" over the soft drink bar. It's a cup of coffee during show time while you wait for call boy Harold Jones to call your skit on stage; (and Frances Fryer to call the call boy.)

It's the elaborate decor of the auditorium, which has consumed weeks of hard work for the pleasure of an appreciative public.

It's the town dignitaries in lavish dress, seated in ornate boxes for the occasion.

It's the rich and extravagant colors and clothes of the era's costumes, men in velvets and brocades, women in jewels and furbelows. It's the personification of the whole era in a few nights of gayety.

Out of the past come unforgettable memories of the balls. Who could ever forget the Scout Mothers in "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland?" Remember the bird on Rose Shaw's head in the Junior Matron skit with Ruth Goss, Leapy Greenlee, Enid Templeton, and Florence Thompson? The Masonic Club's Can-Can Girls, are always being described to the uninitiated. And who was the most important part of the horse, Fred Smales or Bill Barthold, in the elopement skit of two balls ago, when Earl Crawford appeared for the grand finale in his nightshirt?

"The Spider and the Fly," starring Lyle Mewhirter and Ahlma Evans in gorgeous costume, for the American Legion and Auxiliary. Even Councilman John Kemp's 19-month-old son was singing "Boopsy-Daisy," after the Garden Club swung the audience to the tune last Chickens' Ball.

Who could forget "Mother" Emmett Mahoney, or "Hero" Bettye Wright, or "Devil" Ruth Melendy—in the "Fatal Necklace," that so convulsed the audience when the school faculty performed?

You can't say just what Chickens' Ball is, for its everything together, not just the PTA's masterpiece for the year.

Purse Stolen From Car At Coastside Beach

A purse containing $85 was stolen from a car parked at San Gregorio Beach this week, Karen Hult, Rte. 1, Box 794, Woodside, reported to the sheriff's office.

She said that she had left the car for only 15 minutes and returned to find that the window of the convertible had been forced open.

County Plans State Funds For Hospitals

An effort is being made to channel a forthcoming annual state subsidy into a fund for hospital construction, the County Board of Supervisors announced at its meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The state recently notified the San Mateo County Health Dept. that it was eligible for an annual subsidy of $53,632, but stated that it was to be used for salaries.

However, Supervisor Edward R. McDonald, after consulting officials of the State Supervisors Assn. in Sacramento, said he had been told that the money could be used for capital outlay items, such as hospital or sanatorium construction.

The fund was set up to help smaller counties, McDonald said, and the county is expected to match it two to one. San Mateo County has far outstripped this proportion, he declared.

The supervisors association plans to recommend to the state legislature that the annual subsidy, which is to run for four or five years, be allowed to accumulate.

If this is effected, the supervisors hope to use the lump sum, totaling about a quarter million dollars, to get an equal amount of matching money from the state for the construction of some sort of medical or health facility.

The supervisors Tuesday also:

Approved rental of a 15 by 40 foot building at 1595 San Francisco Blvd., Sharp Park, for a branch library.

Appointed Arthur B. Swift to the County Recreation Commission, as recommended by County Executive Frederick Peterson.

Received notice of a hearing in Half Moon Bay on Jan. 28 on an application by the Public Utilities Corp. of California for authority to increase water rates in the Half Moon Bay, El Granada, Moss Beach, Montara area.

Approved the employment of W. H. Morrissey, who for the past four months has been conducting a title search of California Square, which the county wishes to acquire for a courthouse annex. The board also transferred $2200 to the district attorney's fund for the work.

Council Rejects Red Feather Claim

Red Feather Products Co., Ltd., this week presented Redwood City councilmen with a claim for $333,000.

The firm charged that two fires Oct. 14 and 17 wiped out its two plants on Bayshore Hwy. because the city did not furnish adequate water mains in that area.

Councilmen denied the claim. City Atty. Cuthbert Currie said after the meeting that if the firm took the claim to court, it would be working on a law of which he has never heard.

McCarthy Heads Butano Group

Paul A. McCarthy of Redwood City was recently eleced presiden of he Buano Fores Associates at an organizational meeting. At the same time plans were made to raise funds for the purchase of part of Butano forest for a state park.

Other officers elected were Mrs. W. F. C. Zimmerman, vice president; Frances Dieterich, San Jose, secretary, and A. H. Sagehorn, San Carlos, treasurer.

Plans for an extensive campaign to raise funds through donations were made at the meeting, Mrs. Zimmermann said.

Postpone Hearing On RC Zoning Law

A meeting of Redwood City councilmen and planning commissioners to hear protests of a proposed new zoning ordinance has been postponed. Mayor W. W. Hilton said today the meeting would be held Feb. 9 instead of Jan. 26 as originally scheduled.

He said the meeting would be postponed because a quorum of commissioners will not be able to attend Jan. 26.

J-M Plant Here Awarded Nationwide Safety Trophy

Achievement of a perfect safety record in 1947 by the Redwood City Johns-Manville plant was honored last weekend by the presentation of the A. R. Fisher Safety Award in a brief ceremony attended by all 75 plant employes and representatives of Redwood City.

The award, a gold trophy, was named in honor of A. R. Fisher Johns-Manville vice president for production. Alexander Cromwell, production manager of the industrial products division came from New York to present the award.

In making the presentation Cromwell said that the Redwood City plant had no lost time injury in all of 1947, but pointed out that such a safety record was nothing new for J-Ms Redwood City operations.

"Looking back over the last several years, the statistics indicate that injuries at Redwood City have been at a minimum" Cromwell said. "Injury-free years were achieved in 1939 and 1940, and in intervening years only four disabling injuries were experienced," he added.

Cromwell said that Johns-Manville's over-all company rate of accident frequency is lower than the national average. He also said that the Redwood City plant won the safety award in competition with Johns-Manville's 19 plants in the United States and Canada.

Harry Preston, who has been associated with Johns-Manville for more than 29 years, accepted the award on behalf of the plant personnel. Preston is a member of the company's Quarter Century Club, an organization honoring those who have been actively associated with Johns-Manville for 25 years or more. In all the time Preston has been with Johns-Manville he has lost only three and one-half days due to production accidents.

T. H. Eaton, plant manager, Floyd D. Granger acting for Mayor W. W. Hilton and G. E. Towne, president of the Redwood City chamber of commerce, all congratulated the plant personnel on their safety record. Congratulatory letters were also read from Vice President Fisher and from Hugh M. Jackson, Johns-Manville safety director.

Two Northenders Victims Of $11,000 Bunco Operation

A $22,000 pipe dream faded into smoke today for two ranch workers who reported to the sheriff's office the loss of $11,000, their savings over a 12-year period.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said that George, 30, and Pastor Longboya, 42, of the Garibaldi Ranch, Colma, were the victims of a well executed bunco game.

The uncle and nephew reported this week that a friend of theirs whom they had known in the Philippines appeared at the ranch with two other men.

The trio, one of whom claimto be "just off the ship," told the Longboyas that they had a large carton of opium which the Longboyas could use to "double their money."

After a three-day buildup by the bunco artists, the Longboyas last Thursday went to their banks in Colma and Daly City and drew out their life savings of $11,000.

They gave the money to the trio, after being told that the following day they would return with $22,000.

The Longboyas waited all day Friday—and Saturday—and then started to get worried.

When the trio had failed to return with the promised $22,000 or the Longboyas' $11,000 they reported to the sheriff's office that they had been duped.

Motorist Asks $53,953 in Suit

The driver of a car in which his passenger was cremated in rearend collision on Bayshore Hwy. north of the Redwood City limits today filed suit in superior court here for $53,953 damages.

Graham W. Bott, 49, of San Francisco, filed the suit against Benjamin B. Strickler, 23, a pharmacist second class stationed at Moffett Field, and E. A. Hunter, owner of the car.

George Prentice, 46, San Francisco salesman, was trapped in the blazing automobile and died under the eyes of wouldbe rescuers who were driven back by the intense heat.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Bott's sedan was struck from the rear by a coupe driven by Strickler.
